Quality Improvement Science – Learn level

On-line QI Foundation Training Course

This on-line foundation level course provides a free introduction to Quality Improvement Methodologies as part of Wessex PSCs work to develop Quality Improvement capability among healthcare staff and patient/carer representatives.

This on-line training is available for all healthcare staff and patient/carer partners across Wessex, as well as others interested in supporting or delivering improvement. It is designed for people with no/little knowledge of QI or as a basic refresher.

The course introduces the 'Model for Improvement' and some practical improvement tools such as PDSA cycles, followed by a short quiz at the end of each module. It takes approximately two hours to complete and on completing all the modules a certificate of completion can be printed off.

This modular e-learning training is based on NHS Wales highly tested and successful '1000 Lives Plus' Bronze Level training and has been developed by Yorkshire and Humber AHSN Improvement Academy.

The course can be accessed via:

<http://wessexahsn.org.uk/projects/180/bronze-level-qi-foundation-training-course>

You will then be directed to the course webpage which is called the Bronze Level Foundation Training Course.

The training will take approximately two hours to complete. Three out of the four course modules end with a brief assessment, where you will be evaluated on your understanding of QI. On completion of all four modules learners can print a certificate of completion which can be used as evidence of CPD activity.
